2011 is an important anniversary year for the trade union movement. It marks 100 years since the 1911 Transport Workers strike; 50 years since the Council of Europe's Social Charter; 25 years since the Wapping dispute and 10 years since the Friction Dynamics Strike. 2011 also promises to be a year of struggle as unions fight to defend jobs, pay, pensions and services.

So what lessons can we learn from our past to inform our future?

Two trade union general secretaries at the centre of current struggles offer their thoughts in this 2011 In Conversation event
